"WHAT DO YOU COME FOR?" BY ALVIN SCHWARTZ

There was an old woman who lived all by herself, and she was very lonely. Sitting in the kitchen one night, the woman began to talk.

"I wish I had some company." she said.

Soon after she spoke, down the chimney tumbled a spirit. The lady's eyes petrified with terror.

As the terrified person watched, the spirit approached her. It danced around and around the room. Faster and faster, it went. Then, it stopped, and it looked into her eyes.

"What do you come for." she said in a small voice that shivered.

"What do I come for it said loudly.

I come ... for! YOU" it said.
