For a long time Sarah wanted to go out with a very handsome man called James, and then one day he turned up at her door. Just like that! She asked him in. James took his coat off and sat down. Then he explained that while driving past her house his car broke down. It was outside. Sarah said James could call out a mechanic and she looked up the nearest garage in the phone book. She offered him a cup of tea. He accepted. But then she realized there was no milk.

“We’ve run out of milk” she remembered and popped out to buy some more. While Sarah was away the mechanic turned up. He got on with mending the car and James watched. When it was mended James got in his car and drove away. In the shop Sarah suddenly remembered her little baby sister who she was looking after was at home. She ran back to the house and saw that James had left. Her little sister was crying inside so she hurried up and opened the door. Her baby sister calmed down when she entered.
